ABOUT YOU

Would you like the opportunity to work alongside a Rural Specialist for 10 weeks?

Would you like the opportunity to work across the primary health and acute care continuum?

Would you like to work in a rural hospital Accident and Emergency?

Would you like to spend 10 weeks in a rural community and experience all it has to offer?

If the answers are yes,
you're going to want to apply for a Road to Rural Intern rotation.

About the PROGRAM

In partnership with the three Metro LHNs (CALHN, SALHN and NALHN) interns are able to complete a rural placement through the Road to Rural Program, with each R2R Intern working in the local GP practice and hospital for a 10-week rotation.

There are 40 positions available.

Before you start you'll be given one and a half days of combined GP and Emergency orientation provided by our training partners Learn EM and AOGP.

You'll have an onsite GP supervisor at the practice and will receive an orientation when you arrive. There's an Intern Practice Liaison who will coordinate your placement linking you with the resident registrars, GPs and practice staff. They'll also help you settle in and help you understand what the community has to offer.

Your accommodation, utilities and internet are provided through the GP practice.

Our Medical Educator Dr Tim Kelly will visit you while you are on placement and is also our Liaison with your metro training hospital.

How to APPLY

When you are selected into a metro internship program as a PGY1 you will be given a list of rotations available to preference.

At this point you can rank the Road to Rural rotations.

To increase your chances of being able to participate in the R2R Intern Program you should rank Rural General Practice the Road to Rural rotations that interest you in your top choices.

The posts are aligned to the following rural locations.

CALHN Jamestown
Port Lincoln
Waikerie

NALHN Crystal Brook
Kapunda

SALHN Mannum
Murray Bridge
Angaston
