

MEDICAL INTERVIEW SKILLS

RURAL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

APPLICANT GUIDELINES

About

If you live in rural SA, are in Year 12 and have applied for medical school for 2024, RDWA has a training program to support you to learn the skills you will need if you are offered an interview as part of the medical school entry process.

RDWA invites all rural Year 12s who have applied for medicine to apply for this program.

The Medical Interview Skills training will be delivered by experienced trainers MedEntry.

This bundle usually costs $595 per person, but for eligible students, RDWA will pay for the course fee.

RDWA is a nonprofit organisation funded by Commonwealth and State governments. One of our goals is to support rural students to get into medical school because you will become tomorrow's medical workforce.

The MedEntry training will help you learn medical interview skills by:
